Thanksgiving.

At this very special time of year, it's appropriate for us to pause in the midst of our often hectic lives to remember the many people who work to advance the mission of the Scleroderma Foundation. From donors and corporate sponsors, advocates and chapter leaders, medical professionals and researchers, support group leaders and caregivers, to volunteers and staff members, the scleroderma community and the work of the Foundation advances thanks to the efforts of many LIKE YOU.

Whatever role you play within this dynamic community, your efforts help to ease the burden of those living with this terrible disease. More importantly, your support takes us ever farther down the road towards better treatments and the hope of a cure.

As always, but especially at Thanksgiving, we extend our sincerest gratitude for your support of the Foundation and of those living with scleroderma.
